“ I met Daniel my sophomore year when we had the same math class, He had forgotten his pencil so I let him use one of mine. We were friends ever sense, with out him I probably wouldn't have ever passed that class (: no, but in all seriousness I miss him so much. I always looked forward to seeing him everyday even on his bad days and my bad days. I always knew he was there. I would do anything to talk to him one more time. He was so talented and funny and such an awesome guy to be around.

“ I have to many beautiful memories of this brave smart young man(still little boy to me). He struggled At times but had a loving heart. I would waves drop on him and my kids playing and making their little videos. Daniel never gave that up and became so talented. He loves his niece and nephew and cousins and all of us. He was just so smart I didn't get him all the time and he thought that was funny. My heart is broken and for my sister or is shattered. You are at peace baby with no pain and I will forever miss you and you will forever be in my heart. Fly high my beautiful angel

“ I feel like I could write a book memories. It's hard to sum up 18 years. All I can say is you came into this world screaming and hell bent on giving your ma a hard time! But that's ok. It has sculpted you into this creative genius that could write game codes, poems/raps, and really hang in there with some of the greatest smart asses I've ever met HAHAAHA Thank you for showing us how hard it can be to be you and how we can learn to be better. There wil NEVER be another Daniel Wayne Cross and you have left your legacy bub! xoxoxo

“ We were always really close. We weren't just cousins, we were good friends and could talk about anything and everything with each other. There's been moments where we wouldn't hangout for months at a time.. But once we saw each other again it was like we were together the whole time. I really miss our walks around the neighborhood and just talk. I love and miss you soooo much❤️ My heart hurts so bad😭 You'll always be in my thoughts and dreams. Fly High Danny🙏❤️
