“ It is hard to believe it has been 2 years and 7 days since the shocking and heartbreaking day that my ex husband and father of our child passed away. After just speaking with him a few times that week about our son and his similar wide feet inheritance, him giving me advice of having his feet professionally measured and fitted then the specialty shoe store he had to get his shoes his whole life at which Now Jake will. Also about his high school years and the comparison of Jakes high school years , being smarter than the teachers so being bored yet having straight A's and not needing the teachers at all. Darryl was truly a loving, funny, kind, smart, and super talented man in everything he touched. I see him in our son a lot. Both very bright, talented and intelligent. Although Darryl was more outgoing, he did smile and laugh a lot. Of course we had our differences leading to our ultimate divorce but we truly did love each other. In fact, after wasted years of unfortunate bitterness we finally reached peace and friendship the last week he was on this earth and even gave each other an “I'm sorry” and called a truce. Ironic that this happened days before his sudden and unexpected death. He lovingly left me with a positive but sad closure. I have one of 4 best parts of him to hold on to ... his youngest son who loved his dad and knew his dad loved him. He left this earth way too soon but hopefully we will all see him again one day. “ I've known Darryl for 27 years and his family he always treated me more like family than friend even though we were lived five hours apart. He was exception to all the rules, most men are a jack of all trades master of none Darryl was the exception it seem like anything he did he mastered, in all my years I have seen him in action curbing general contractor motel cabinetry carpet railing auto anything including painting ,a true pro. He left his mark on this Earth and in all friends hearts .He will be missed.

“ We really thought Darryl was a great person. We knew him through business. Darryl was a bright light at the end of the tunnel on a construction site. Darryl went out of his way for me. Darryl was one of those guys that you could go to on the job and count on him for anything. He came to the job happy and smiling. He took time to add humor and to try and help solve our installation problems. I am speechless as to how much he meant. I feel I've lost a friend and com padre on the job. We were sadden to hear he left this earth too soon. He will be missed very much. We pray you find the peace of God that passes all understanding while grieving the loss of this very special person.
