“ To Andre, Nicholas, and Devin... Praying your strength now and in years to come as you remember your dad fondly, yield to tears whenever need be, laugh soundly at the things he said and did, swell with pride over the things he did for you as children and even as adults. Remember, your dad loved you in all things. There may have been times you may not have seen eye to eye, but that's what we parents do and you'll learn that yourself, as parents, as time goes by, trust me. He carried you all in his heart and spoke of you OFTEN, with the GREATEST pride until his last breath, I know. I take GREAT comfort that he made the decision of where he would spend eternity by asking the Savior in his heart before leaving this earthly residence...Let his greatest legacy be that you have done or will do the same so you KNOW you'll see him again in Paradise. Praying for you always...❤️
