“ John was not just my father. He was a man I looked to as a soldier. Strong headed and always finding a way. He never let me fall, always making me stand and if I shed a tear it was a tear for watching the pain fall behind me and a then smile for what was ahead. In time before his passing I had smiles, laughing at my jokes and sometimes our own tears, but they were always with deep heart. I will miss you dad. You are gone, but never forgotten. My dad, my hero, a part of my heart gone, but not lost

“ John and I would talk for hours on the phone giving each other a hard time. One of my favorite times was when he turned 62 years old. I called him and told him I had been thinking about him and wanted to wish him a Happy Birthday. He was touched and told me how sweet that was. After a minute I asked him I had a question for him, he replied shoot. I then proceeded to ask him how he liked being a senior citizen now....you could of heard a pin drop. He then proccrded to tell me he was NO senior citizen and that I was a brat and he was gonna kick my arse! We had great fun and in the end he said love ya brat! We always teased each other pretty unmercifully but we always said love you.
