“ I met John 41 years ago when we were in the Air Force, stationed at Scott Air Force Base in Belleville, Illinois. John and I were good buddies back then, best friends you might say. We did a lot of running around together, partying, and hanging out at the U.S.O. most every Saturday night, and any other night that it was open. The weather never stopped us from making the 30 minute ride into St. Louis. Many good memories. After I got shipped overseas in 1965, during the Vietnam War, I lost contact with John. Many, many years later, somehow, John located me way up here in Maine. For many years after, we touched bases with each other once or twice every year. John was much more reliable than I, almost always calling me around Thanksgiving time or Christmas. We mostly talked about guy stuff, but occasionally reminisced about the old days. I miss those talks with John. He was a great friend.
