“ Actually, Lynwood graduated with me from Moultrie Sr High School in 1959. My sister, Virginia Miller, married Homer Miller, who was Dorothy Hegwood Miller's husband, Joe Miller's brother. So, in a sense, we were almost family.

Lynwood was, as I recall, a star quarterback on Moultrie's outstanding '58-'59 football team. I recently sent him a Facebook friend request. When I got no response, I checked the obits, only to find that he had recently passed. RIP, my friend. Glad you were so successful in life, had a long marriage, and were a dedicated and active Christian. Hope to see you again in another time and place, which I can now only imagine.

“ Lynn or dad as I called him, what's one of the first male father figures I ever had. Growing up with a absent father Lynn had a great impact on me. As I grew up in Old country boy from function Georgia Lynn and Sandra introduced me to a whole different world. It partly shaped who I am. I just wish I could have spent more time with him. Goodbye old bear I love you Dad.

“ I grew up with stories of Lynwood AKA “boy” from my grandmother, grandfather, and my mother. I thought it was really awesome that he was born on the same day as my grandmother (his oldest sister) but 20 years later! He was one year younger than his niece (my mother Sandra). I love the story about him hiding my mother in a cabinet when she was in trouble! I am guessing there were a lot of cabinets and switches in those days! I loved listening to his stories which always had me in stitches! I am so blessed my son Christian recently had the opportunity to get to know him. Although we live over 1800 miles away, Uncle Lyn always made sure we knew we were family and love by him. Lyn was one of a kind and his humor and laughter will be missed, but carried on with his family. It comforts us that he was called home to be with Jesus on Resurrection Sunday and reunited with his parents, sisters and other loved ones. Luckily there is no need for cabinets in heaven! Until we see you again in Heaven, thank you for the memories
Great Uncle Lynwood!
Love and prayers to our southern kin!
