“ Mr. Weeks was an awesome man. I grew up around him and the others from the National Guard because of my dad, Steve Subel. He was always smiling and had a wonderful personality. He will be greatly missed.

“ My deepest sympathy to Faye and the entire family. I am so sorry for your loss. Warren was a dear friend and school mate of mine. A very quiet and caring person who was always ready to help those in need. I moved from Alabama in the late 60s, but whenever I visited if I ran into Warren it was evident he was a devoted husband, father and grandfather. May he rest in peace.

“ Weren't we all the luckiest to share this life with Uncle Warren? I'm not sure I'll ever meet a man quite like him. Although my heart longs for more time with him, I find myself feeling so much gratitude for his life. He loved God and his family so much and he did so with kindness, patience, and grace.....the kind we all wish we had. While he had a quiet disposition, his strength and character was demonstrated mightily as he served our country. I often wondered about all he had seen and experienced in his life! I am quite certain he had so many wonderful stories to share.

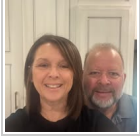

Recently, I found out just how much he loved telling stories through home videos. However, you wouldn't find him in the spot light. Oh no, he was behind a camera capturing and documenting some of the most beautiful moments in his family's life. I was especially fond of the silly moments and the few times he was caught on camera. I saw my uncle in a different way through those home videos. Warren was keenly aware of the gifts he had been given in the people he loved....and it seemed like he didn't take a moment with them for granted.

I think we all need the reminder to slow down and be fully present in the seemingly small moments. It's those moments that we long for during times like these.

I am so proud to call him my "Uncle" and will try my best to carry on his example of quiet strength, service, and love.
