“ My Uncle Bill is in Heaven & mom is showing him around. I have 2 memories to share with the Davis family. I was in 4th grade. He, Aunt Diane and I went to WV to help my g'parents move. It was storming and he knew I hated stormy weather !! He stood under a huge oak tree and kept repeating, louder & louder, "Pamela Sue, Lightening can't strike me. I am under a tree!" I was on the porch, crying because I KNEW he would get hurt. He laughed at me !! MY 2ND MEMORY, is an interview he had with Dick Lamb, a local reporter. Uncle Bill had "visions!" He couldn't say when, but "There will be a minor earthquake in northern VA with some damaged to monuments in D.C." We had a mild earthquake several years ago and the Washington Monument was damaged !! I last saw Uncle Bill at my mom's funeral in 2012. I oved him very much and will hold these memories always. Thinking of my Aunt Diane, and my cousins. HUGS
